I load it into a table using jQuery's.html() function and append it to the document. The table is a little large, so I'm trying to get a handle on all the cells that have data in them as well. What I'm currently doing (which works) is: Get the top level of cells that I want to be clickable via $("td").click() When the cell is clicked, I get a cell-specific id from the corresponding cell's id Using
